

Little Christ Child is coming

Little Christ Child is coming, silent times
Coming home to your loved ones
Spending time with each other, not doing anything
Makes everybody a child again.

The little child, suddenly there
From heaven above, now so close to us
A story so incredible for all of us
The angels show it, it is wonderful.
It has brought much joy all over the world
So delicate and fine, the great hero.

Do you hear it once again inside the living room?
Your heart is beating, suddenly you are a child again.
The bell is ringing, suddenly you are still.
The child has already been there, the signal says
What will you find under the tree?
We were all once small, and our dreams were big.

You step out into the world, soon darkness will fall
The bright lights, the snow so pleasantly cold
The green trees will soon find their way to the house
It smells like Christmas
Come on, sing it out loud!

Everything that grandma bakes tastes so sweet
A lot of colorful cookies that make us happy
The cinnamon, the tea, the Christmas tree
It all smells familiar, it's like a dream.
Some gingerbread ... what more can there be?
Christmas brings joy in life.
It seems that everyone has this one song,
buzzing around in their head
Everyone uses their imagination to hear something beautiful
Come, let us all sing this melody together!
